Description

Radiographer

Location: Chelmsford, Essex
Salary: Up to £40,000 per annum, dependent on experience
Contract: Full-time, permanent (part-time applications also considered)
Hours: Up to 37.5 hours per week, with flexibility around working patterns

We are looking for an experienced and motivated Radiographer to join an established diagnostic imaging service based in Chelmsford.

This is an excellent opportunity for a Radiographer with experience across general X-ray, MRI and C-arm imaging who is looking to take on a varied role within a supportive hospital environment.

You will play an important part in delivering high-quality diagnostic imaging services, working with a range of imaging equipment and supporting patients throughout their diagnostic journey.

The service currently provides general X-ray and C-arm imaging, alongside a mobile MRI service. You will benefit from management support from an experienced team based at another hospital site, with opportunities to work across additional locations should you wish to increase your hours.

The Role

As a Radiographer, you will be responsible for delivering safe, effective and high-quality diagnostic imaging services to patients across a range of clinical requirements.

Your workload will include:

- General X-ray imaging.
- C-arm imaging, typically required once a week.
- MRI imaging, supported by a mobile MRI service operating approximately twice a week.

You will work closely with the wider clinical team to ensure the smooth running of the imaging service, maintaining high professional standards and delivering an excellent patient experience.

You will also receive regular management support from the team based at the organisation’s Hatfield site, with management presence in Chelmsford one day per week.

Key Responsibilities

- Perform a range of diagnostic imaging procedures, including general X-ray,

MRI and C-arm imaging.
- Ensure all examinations are carried out safely and in accordance with professional standards and departmental protocols.
- Assess patients' clinical needs and ensure they are appropriately prepared for imaging procedures.
- Provide clear explanations and reassurance to patients throughout their appointments.
- Produce high-quality diagnostic images, ensuring accuracy and attention to detail.
- Operate imaging equipment safely and effectively, identifying and escalating any technical issues.
- Maintain accurate patient records and imaging documentation.
- Work collaboratively with consultants, nursing teams and other healthcare professionals.
- Ensure compliance with radiation safety, infection prevention and control procedures.
- Contribute to the efficient day-to-day operation of the diagnostic imaging service.
- Support the ongoing development and delivery of the service.

About You

We are looking for an experienced Radiographer who is confident working independently while also enjoying being part of a wider multidisciplinary team.

You will ideally have:

- Current HCPC registration as a Diagnostic Radiographer.
- Experience working within a hospital or diagnostic imaging environment.
- Strong general X-ray skills.
- Experience with C-arm imaging.
- MRI experience, or the ability to support MRI services.
- Experience working at a mid-level, Band 6-equivalent level.
- A strong understanding of clinical governance, radiation safety and patient care.
- Excellent communication and interpersonal skills.
- The ability to organise your workload and work flexibly around service requirements.

You will be professional, patient-focused and committed to maintaining high standards of clinical practice.

Working Hours & Flexibility

The position can be offered on either a full-time or part-time basis, with flexibility around the successful candidate's preferred working pattern.

The ideal arrangement would be up to 37.5 hours per week, although candidates looking to work two or three days per week will also be considered.

The current requirement is:

- Monday: Required.
- Thursday: Required.
- Additional day: Tuesday or Wednesday, depending on availability and service requirements.

There may also be opportunities to work across the organisation's Hatfield and London sites if you are looking to increase your weekly hours.

What's on Offer?

- Salary of up to £40,000 per annum, dependent on experience.
- Full-time, permanent opportunity, with part-time flexibility.
- Flexible working arrangements to suit the right candidate.
- A varied imaging workload across X-ray, C-arm and MRI.
- Regular management support from an experienced team.
- Opportunities to work across additional hospital locations.
- The chance to contribute to the development of an established diagnostic imaging service.

If you are an experienced Radiographer looking for a flexible opportunity where you can utilise your imaging skills across a varied clinical environment, we would love to hear from you.
